

The Convicts Upskilling Pathways (CUP) project aims to enhance the medium to long term employability and the social reintegration of 210 female and male convicts in six European prisons in Italy, Greece, Cyprus and The Netherlands by designing and piloting innovative upskilling training modules and monitoring tools. These scalable tools will enable CUP to broaden its impact from the local to the national and European level contributing to also change the narrative on prison education.

Infographic 2.2020

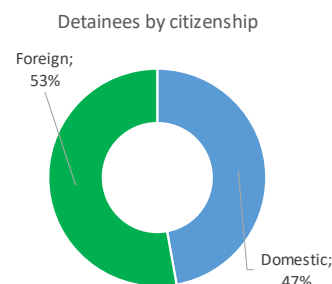

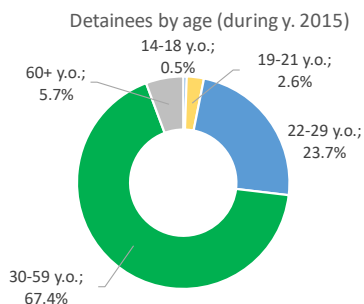

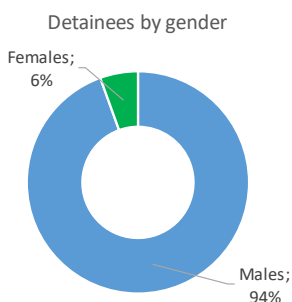

Detainees in Greece

Greek population: 10.7 million people

A demographic overview

10,000 (nearly 1 detainee every 1,000 inhabitants)

The overall number of detainees in Greece was around 10,000 (10,011) in 2018. Most of them were males (94%), 6% females. More than half (53%) were foreign citizens (mostly from countries outside the EU). One in three (33%) was a pre-trial detainee. Overall, 664 prisoners were serving sentences of less than five years, while 933 were serving life sentences. Considering detainees in Greece during the year 2015, two thirds of them were in the 30-59 age group.

Ratio of detainees to available places 122%

Detainees per officer 2.5

Average cost per detainee (Euro) in 2016 28.18 € per day

Total no. of people placed on probation during 2018 15,706

Sources: Hellenic Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights, General Secretariat for Criminal Policy; Hellenic Statistical Authority; Council of Europe Annual Penal Statistics

PROJECT PARTNERS

Fondazione Compagnia di San Paolo in collaboration with: "Epanodos" - The Greek Centre for the Social Reintegration of Ex-offenders, Greece; Casa Circondariale Lorusso e Cutugno Torino, Italy; European University Cyprus; Fondazione Casa Di Carità Arti e Mestieri Onlus, Italy; Fondazione Emanuela Zancan Onlus, Italy; HumanRights360 Civil non profit civil partnership, Greece; Ministry of Justice and Public Order, Cyprus; Pi Vught, The Netherlands; Tirantes, The Netherlands

The Convicts Upskilling Pathways (CUP) project aims to enhance the medium to long term employability and the social reintegration of 210 female and male convicts in six European prisons in Italy, Greece, Cyprus and The Netherlands by designing and piloting innovative upskilling training modules and monitoring tools. These scalable tools will enable CUP to broaden its impact from the local to the national and European level contributing to also change the narrative on prison education.

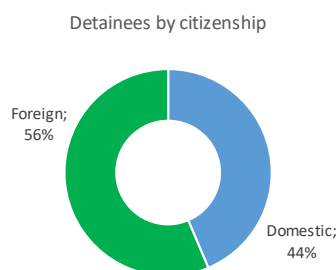

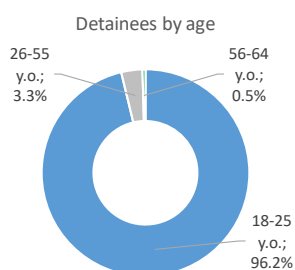

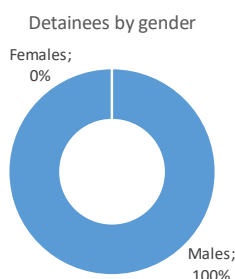

Detainees in Special Detention Juvenile Center of Avlona

A demographic overview

213

The Special Detention Juvenile Center of Avlona is a special detention facility for young detainees aged 18 to 21. Exceptionally, older detainees remain (until the age of 25) and if there are reasons related to their education and vocational training.

The overall number of detainees was over 200 (213) in early 2020. Most detainees (96.2%) are in the 18-25 age group. All of them are males (100%), more than half (56%) are foreign citizens. Nearly half (45%) have only achieved primary education. Nearly half of them (44%) are pre-trial detainees. 4 detainees are close to release (less than one year remaining).

Ratio of detainees to available places 104%

Detainees per officer 5.3

Detainees per educator 8.5

Detainees per administrative staff member 15.2

Detainees per scientific staff member (social workers, psychologists) 53.3

Sources: Greek Special Detention Juvenile Center of Avlona, Hellenic Republic Ministry of Citizen Protection

PROJECT PARTNERS

Fondazione Compagnia di San Paolo in collaboration with: "Epanodos" - The Greek Centre for the Social Reintegration of Ex-offenders, Greece; Casa Circondariale Lorusso e Cutugno Torino, Italy; European University Cyprus; Fondazione Casa Di Carità Arti e Mestieri Onlus, Italy; Fondazione Emanuela Zancan Onlus, Italy; HumanRights360 Civil non profit civil partnership, Greece; Ministry of Justice and Public Order, Cyprus; Pi Vught, The Netherlands; Tirantes, The Netherlands

The Convicts Upskilling Pathways (CUP) project aims to enhance the medium to long term employability and the social reintegration of 210 female and male convicts in six European prisons in Italy, Greece, Cyprus and The Netherlands by designing and piloting innovative upskilling training modules and monitoring tools. These scalable tools will enable CUP to broaden its impact from the local to the national and European level contributing to also change the narrative on prison education.

Detainees in the prison of Eleona, Thiva

A demographic overview

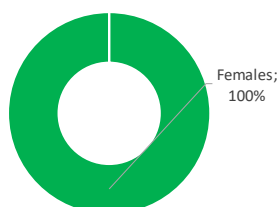

355

The overall number of detainees in the Female Prison of Eleona, Thiva equalled 355 in early 2020.

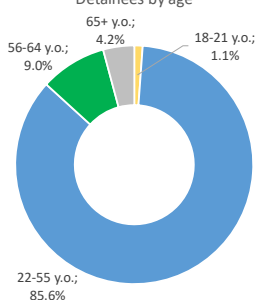

All of them are females. Most of them (86%) belong to the 22-55 age group.

Nearly three out of four detainees (72%) have Greek citizenship, more than one in four (28%) are foreign citizens. 3% are pre-trial detainees, while 97% are sentenced detainees. In 2019, 3 detainees served the remaining part of their sentence in house confinement, 17 converted the original sentence into community service.

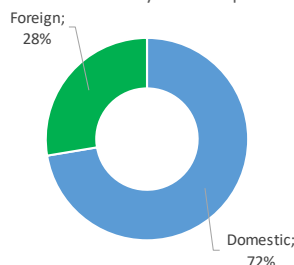

Detainees by gender

Detainees by age

Detainees by citizenship

Ratio of detainees to available places 89%

Detainees per officer 3.2

Detainee per educator 20.9

Detainees per other professional (psychologists, social workers, sociologists, scientific staff members) 29.6

Detainees per administrative staff member 44.4

Feeding expenses per detainee (Euro) 3.5 € per day

Sources: Greek Female Prison of Eleona, Thiva, Hellenic Republic Ministry of Citizen Protection

PROJECT PARTNERS

Fondazione Compagnia di San Paolo in collaboration with: "Epanodos" - The Greek Centre for the Social Reintegration of Ex-offenders, Greece; Casa Circondariale Lorusso e Cutugno Torino, Italy; European University Cyprus; Fondazione Casa Di Carità Arti e Mestieri Onlus, Italy; Fondazione Emanuela Zancan Onlus, Italy; HumanRights360 Civil non profit civil partnership, Greece; Ministry of Justice and Public Order, Cyprus; Pi Vught, The Netherlands; Tirantes, The Netherlands

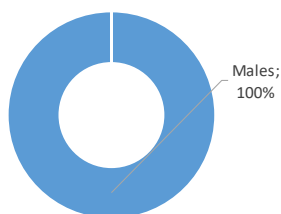

The Convicts Upskilling Pathways (CUP) project aims to enhance the medium to long term employability and the social reintegration of 210 female and male convicts in six European prisons in Italy, Greece, Cyprus and The Netherlands by designing and piloting innovative upskilling training modules and monitoring tools. These scalable tools will enable CUP to broaden its impact from the local to the national and European level contributing to also change the narrative on prison education.

Detainees in the prison of Halkida

A demographic overview

Detainees by gender

200

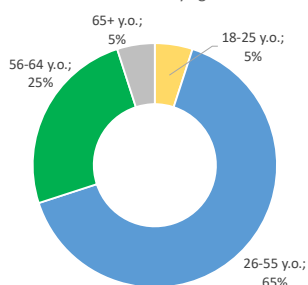

The overall number of detainees in the prison of Halkida is around 200.

All of them are males.

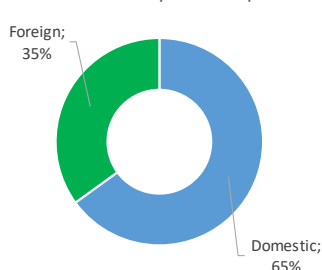

Nearly two thirds (65%) are domestic citizens, more than one in three are foreign citizens.

Almost two out of three detainees are in the 26-55 age group.

Detainees by age

Detainees by citizenship

Ratio of detainees to available places 161%

Detainees per officer 3.7

Detainees per educator/trainer 200

Detainees per administrative staff member 12.5

Sources: Greek Prison of Halkida, Hellenic Republic Ministry of Citizen Protection

PROJECT PARTNERS

Fondazione Compagnia di San Paolo in collaboration with: "Epanodos" - The Greek Centre for the Social Reintegration of Ex-offenders, Greece; Casa Circondariale Lorusso e Cutugno Torino, Italy; European University Cyprus; Fondazione Casa Di Carità Arti e Mestieri Onlus, Italy; Fondazione Emanuela Zancan Onlus, Italy; HumanRights360 Civil non profit civil partnership, Greece; Ministry of Justice and Public Order, Cyprus; Pi Vught, The Netherlands; Tirantes, The Netherlands